Curriculum

The Curriculum at Lutterworth High School

The curriculum at Lutterworth High School is aligned to our values and our mission statement of 'Where learning comes first.'

To deliver these values our curriculum is ambitious and carefully sequenced. It is broad and balanced with students undertaking a range of subjects to allow them to pursue their talents and interests. All students engage with rich knowledge and concepts.

Our values for students are:

- We aim to deliver exceptional teaching that allows everybody to make excellent progress.
- We aim to instil a lifelong love of learning and a sense of awe and wonder.
- We want to nurture talents and interests through an exceptional range of co-curricular opportunities and visits.
- We want our students to leave school as fully rounded individuals ready to embrace life in the 21st Century.

To enable our students to leave Lutterworth High school as fully rounded individuals ready to embrace life in the 21st Century, there are three curriculum threads that are woven through all subjects:

Discovering careers

There are an astonishing number of careers available to young people and there are careers that did not even exist ten years ago. Our aim is to ensure that young people are aware of the breadth and diversity of careers that are out there. Throughout the curriculum we make frequent and topical references to the careers available in that subject area. This ensures that students leave Lutterworth High School aware of the wonderful opportunities available and do not have a narrowed view.

Understanding the modern world

Our young people need more than ever to have an understanding of the modern world. They have lived through a pandemic, are living with climate change and have witnessed war in Europe. There are complex issues to grasp and discuss. Our curriculum creates the opportunities for students to study, discuss and understand these areas. The school promotes fundamental British values including freedom of speech and democracy.

Expressing your ideas

The ability to express yourself and to organise your thoughts orally and in writing is a key life skill that is also highly valued by employers. Students are encouraged to use a rich vocabulary. All students will be given a number of opportunities to present to their peers as well as the opportunity to debate contemporary issues.

WAY

The Emerald Way co-curriculum is an essential part of a student's experience at Lutterworth High School. All students undertake activities related to creativity, culture, competition and charity.
